Intended outcomes of the workshop

- Increased social capital across ELIXIR in the area of impact evaluation and environmental impact;
- Improved skills and knowledge in impact evaluation, obtained through formal training, knowledge-exchange, as well as hands-on practical exercises, customised to the needs and interest of research infrastructures;
- Increased understanding of environmental issues of relevance to Nodes and how the carbon footprint can be assessed.

Who should attend

Anyone in ELIXIR who is interested in impact evaluation and environmental sustainability.

Participants are strongly encouraged to familiarise themselves, prior to the workshop, with ELIXIR's key impact-related resources, which include a Toolkit, an Annotated bibliography and a List of indicators

Topics and group allocation for the hands-on practical exercises on impact evaluation

- Trainees to add their name to the below table, against a topic they would like to work on, as a group, during the workshop (day 2). No need to prepare anything specific ahead of time.
- Possible to add/modify topic descriptions if Node needs and interests are not well captured by current formulation.

Topics
Impact of running a bioinformatics resource such as a database, a piece of software, the provision of cloud computing
Impact of running a [e.g. data management] training course
Impact of ELIXIR's core funding (e.g. of a portfolio of commissioned services, of recurring signature events)
Impact of running a programme (e.g. industry programme, training programme)
Impact of a EU- or nationally-funded project
Impact of Node activities in the policy sphere
Scientific impact/legacy of a Node
Impact of a national Node (e.g. as part of an annual/periodic evaluation/review, considering formats (e.g. infographic, annual report, etc)
Socio-economic impact of a Node (e.g. in innovation, job creation, human capital, etc) [for this topic, one might wish to start from impacts, then work out what outcomes and activities would lead to these, hence working right to left in the impact pathway logic]
